Substrates

All our products are mounted with Beva – Beva prevents acidic migration from the substrate from penetrating into the linen.

Gatorfoam

Gatorfoam panels are the perfect choice for an artist. They are a lightweight, manmade wood-polystyrene product that has an inert acidic content of 6.5~7.0 pH—inert meaning they will not become more acidic over time. They are less acidic than hardboard! The panels can handle all types of weather with ease. Whether you're in rain, snow, or in the heat, the panels hold up quite well. The standard panel is 3/16" thick or a 1/2" panel is used for sizes 18"x24" and above. Raw unmounted Gatorfoam is also available in standard or custom sizes.

Baltic Birch – Premium Panels with backside triple coat Spar Varnish

We offer our linens mounted on 1/8" and 1/4" Baltic Birch. We seal the back of the panels with triple coat of Spar varnish. This seals the wood from moisture and minimizes warping (wood still has the tendency to warp). This also adds protection and quality for the archival concerns of your artwork. Thicker wood available on request.

Adhesive – *BEVA is an acid free barrier

Our adhesive is BEVA. It is totally compatible with the size used on linens. It is designed specifically for art conservation. It is heat or solvent reversible. The linen will be preserved and if the support is damaged the linen can be removed and remounted to a new surface by a conservator. Reactivation with heat begins at about 160 degrees Fahrenheit. Care must be taken to avoid loosening the linen. It is advised not to leave panels in car windows or car trunks for extended periods of time.
